The Section house is a small, working-class home. With just two rooms, Mrs. de Léon has to be very careful with the way she uses her space. What modern conveniences does she have? What is she missing?

What industry brought the de Léon family to North Texas? (Hint: Find the building that is the same color as the house.)

In the kitchen, what do you see that reflects the de Léon family’s Hispanic heritage?

What labor-saving device can be found in the bedroom window? Why do you think it was placed there?

How does the de Léon family stay warm? How do they get light?

On laundry day, after washing clothes, how are clothes dried at the de Léon house?

How does Mrs. de Léon use her backyard?
This house was built by a Dallas doctor as rental property and was part of a working class African American neighborhood. The house style was probably introduced into this country in the early 19th century by free blacks from Haiti. Though you may have heard that shotgun houses get their name because one can fire a shotgun through the front door and the bullet goes out the back door, take a look inside. You’ll notice the two doors aren’t lined up. Most likely, we corrupted the original African word “togun” into “shotgun.”

Find the large scissors hanging in a window of the Shotgun House. They are a clue to Mrs. Freeman’s occupation. What do you think it is? Can you find another clue inside the house?

Many African-Americans believed that hanging these from a tree would catch any bad luck before it entered a home. What is hanging from the tree?

Can you find a picture of a famous president inside the Shotgun House? Who is it? Why do you think he’s here?

Every room in the Shotgun House has an exterior door. Why do you think this is?

What modern conveniences does the Shotgun House feature?
